

COURSES APPROVED FOR THE L&S BREADTH REQUIREMENT

All courses on the following list are approved to count for the designated L&S Breadth requirement (Humanities, Social Science, Natural Science, or Natural Science Lab). Additionally, some L&S Breadth courses are approved to fulfill university General Education Requirements (GER). The Code Key below provides the GER designations.

*Courses noted with a GER Distribution designation can fulfill both the L&S Breadth and GER requirements only for students following degree requirements through Summer 2024. Students under the Fall 2024 degree requirements and later terms may not use one course to fulfill both the L&S Breadth and GER Distribution requirements; an individual course may satisfy only the L&S Breadth or GER Distribution. For more information on L&S degree requirements visit the L&S website \(https://uwm.edu/letters-science/students/current-undergraduate-students/degree-requirements/\).

Atmospheric Science

If you took an Atmospheric Science course before Fall 2022, it counts as an L&S course. However, starting Fall 2022, Atmospheric Science courses only count as L&S courses for students who (1) declared the major in Atmospheric Science before Fall 2022, or (2) took ATM SCI 240 before Fall 2022 and later declared the major in Atmospheric Science. To determine which of your Atmospheric Science courses is eligible, check with your college advisor.
